From the desk of Sandra Angeles – Senior Manager, HRIS & Workday HR Solutions Lead

Workday is live! Congratulations, and thank you to everyone who contributed to this monumental effort. The next few days and weeks will help associates embrace this technology and a new way of working.

Change Management

We ask that you support your associates over the coming weeks with our move to Workday. Be prepared to leverage all of the tools and resources available on SyscoWorkday.com.

Early adoption is key, while additional resources are in place to research and resolve issues. Be sure to encourage your associates to log in, update their information and set up their profile. For managers, their way of working changes today with new business processes that they will initiate, approve and own. Early adoption is critical for our people leaders, and all of the tools and resources available on SyscoWorkday.com can help with their learning process.

Workday starts a new chapter for Sysco and your organization. You are an integral part of this effort, and we thank you for all you will do to support our associates and managers in the coming weeks.
